Our Lord could not for a moment have meant to denounce every kind of saving. He says that "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one and love the other, or else he will hold to the one and despise the other. Even the personal shortcomings we come up against, even the trials of life we know, even the darkness that sometimes invades our hearts, can all contribute to this transfiguration.

Facing-both-ways, "who, with one eye on heaven and another on earth, sincere
